"REVIEW" JUNIOR SECTION

Dear Girls and Boys:

This is Cousin Judith speaking. Y'see, Cousin David didn't give me a chance to say more than just a weeny-teeny little bit last week, and, as you'll all learn, I like to say a very great deal more than just a little bit. So I told Cousin David he could only have 'steen inches of space to-day! The first thing I want to talk to you about is our first contest. I have an idea! One that I hope you will all like. Suppose you write to tell us what form you would like our first contest to take. We'll offer a prize of $5.00 for the best original contest plan submitted by any girl or boy under fifteen. And then later on we'll use the winner's idea for still another contest. Get the idea? And do you approve? If so, here goes.... We're off! Let's see what the mail man will bring! As to rules—well, I never was over-fond of the "critters." Therefore we'll have the simplest of rules.

One—Entries must be written on one side only of paper.

Two—Contestants must be under fifteen.

Three—Parents of contestants must be subscribers to the REVIEW.

And because there never yet was a rule that wasn't bettered, oh! ever so slightly by an exception, we have an exception to rule three—to the effect that children who are in orphanages or institutions of a like kind are eligible as contestants. Now that's that, and I do hope that you'll all enter in regular humdinger style. And now muchly though I want to be with you, I must let Cousin David have his say. Until next week. Au revoir.

COUSIN JUDITH.

Well! Well! Well! Cousins, what d'ye know 'bout that? There was a letter for me this week—and from a boy at that. 'Smatter, girls? How about next week? I wonder!

COUSIN DAVID.
713 Berri St.

Dear "Cuz" Dave:

I'm with you right from the start and you can count on me to keep your mail bag filled. Do you print poetry in your column? Lots of the fellows I know write poems. We started a paper once that we called the Jingle Journal. But it didn't last long. Exams killed it. I'm going to tell you more of the Jingle Journal next week. What do you say? We run a miniature one in the Junior Section? Good stunt, methinks! What ho, cousins all?

COUSIN "BILL."
(My nom de plume.)

Well, Bill, ole boy, you're what I call a "regular fellow." Here you come with a good, healthy common-sense idea that I think is great. Let's hear more about it. Of course, we'll have a Jingly Corner. I'm a semi-demi jongleur meself, I am.

There was a cheery cousin Bill,
Jingled as he climbed a hill,
Jingled by a shady rill,
Jingled loud and jingled still,
Did this cheery fellow Bill.

'Bye,

COUSIN DAVID.

Shall Autocracy Reap What Democracy Has Sown?

By ISAAC GRUENBAUM
Ranking Jewish member of the Polish Parliament.
(Copyright 1923, Jewish Telegraphic Agency).

Jewish social circles throughout the world, especially in the countries of eastern Europe are faced by a new and exceedingly difficult problem. More and more clearly it is becoming apparent that we are in peril of losing all or nearly all of what has been achieved through our nationalist effort in the field of relief activity during the years of the war and the early part of the post-war period. The sufferings of the Jews in eastern Europe, the devastation, the ruination of the Jewish settlements in the east European countries called into existence a magnificent relief activity which exceeded all expectations.

This was no philanthropy in the general sense of the word. It was more a reconstruction, a work of restoration, even when it was not creating any permanent institutions, and exhausted itself in the momentary relief. It was saturated with a new spirit of self-help. Those at the head of things realized their responsibility towards the masses whom they had to approach in order to obtain the necessary funds. They did not regard themselves as the God-appointed helpers, the administrators of the affairs of their poor suffering fellow-Jews who had no right to a say in the matter, because they had an interest in the relief work and could not, therefore, judge impartially what should be done. The new organizations which were established in the later period did not, like the ICA, have means of their own. They were not composed of groups wanting to have the right to decide what is to be done with the money without any consultation of those who are to be benefited. The need of collecting large sums made it essential that the work should be influenced by the will of the masses, even when there was no wish to reckon with it overmuch. The American JDC, the greatest and the most influential of all these organizations, could not get away from this influence of the masses, even when it tried, for it was always possible to appeal to the masses, to get them to express their will, and if it was strong enough, the "Joint" could not stand against it.

The old organizations like the ICA, the Alliance, not to speak of the German Hilfsverein and even the English War Victims' Fund practically disappeared from Jewish life. When they came back after the war into the east European countries, they found a well-organized relief activity conducted by new people, with new methods, and with a new impetus of which they had never dreamed. Their people, those who had their confidence, the men of the old Jewish world, were as if wiped off the face of the world of Jewish life. The nationalist circles who at one time, could be disposed of with a smile of contempt, who had had to ask for their funds and

New Year's Greetings

To Your Friends and Relatives in All Parts of the Dominion through the

Canadian Jewish Review

THE practice of sending New Year's Greetings to friends and relatives through an Anglo-Jewish paper is general throughout Great Britain and the United States. Its advantage over the old individual mailing card is evident in the saving of time, expense and worry over forgetting a friend.

Greeting Cards in the CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW will take this form:

"Mr. and Mrs. David Louis and family, of 6000 Wells Hill Avenue, extend their best wishes to their relatives and friends for a Happy and Prosperous New Year."

MAIL THE COUPON BELOW NOT LATER THAN FRIDAY, AUGUST 31st, FOR PUBLICATION IN THE ROSH HASHONAH (5684) NUMBER, WHICH WILL BE ISSUED EARLY IN SEPTEMBER.

The Canadian Jewish Review,
318 Bay Street,
Toronto, Canada

Gentlemen:

Enclosed please find $2.00 for which please insert my New Year's Greeting Card in your Rosh Hashonah (5684) Number as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. (or Miss) (or Mr.).....

.....of No.....

.....Street (or Avenue)

THE EDITOR,
CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW:

Will you be good enough to publish this letter, in order to correct statements made in the editorial in the issue of your paper of July 27th? The writer of the editorial in question states as follows:

> "This question of the Jewish Agency is to be the principal issue before the forthcoming Zionist Congress, etc.," and winds up with, "Surely in a democratic organization, such as the Canadian Zionist Federation claims to be, members of the National Council should at least be informed that a special meeting is to be held at which this most important question is to be discussed. In view of their being unable to attend, they should have been given an opportunity to submit their view in writing. We cannot understand why this was not done."

It is to be regretted that the esteemed editorial writer has been wrongly informed as to the actual facts for, had he obtained the real information he would have saved himself the unpleasantness of making attacks on or accusing the Zionist Headquarters the way he did in the editorial in question. The facts are as follows:

On June 20th the office received copy No. 22 of "The New Palestine," published by the American organization, in which the proposals in question were published. The office then immediately wired for an adequate number of copies from New York which were received here on June 24th. These copies, accompanied by a letter, were mailed to all the members of the National Council on June 25th. The letter read as follows:

> "Dear Member of National Council:
> Kindly read on pages 421 to 427 inclusive and on page 442, especially the paragraphs printed in italics.
> They contain the principles of proposals to be recommended to the Thirteenth Zionist Congress, Carlsbad.
> It is desired that members of the Canadian Council make their recommendations according as to what would in their opinion be acceptable to recommend on behalf of the Zionist Organization of Canada, and would necessarily after final decision at the National Council meeting on July 10th be given as mandates to the delegates who will represent Canada at that Congress.
> Kindly remember that no delay is possible, the time being short, etc."

At the meeting of the Zionist Executive on July 3rd in the presence of Dr. Schmarya Levin, the "proposals" were lengthily discussed and decided that same be recommended to the National Council for approval.

On July 10th the National Council met, and not having received any expression of opinion from any of the members of the National Council, have consequently approved the proposals as they were accepted at the American Convention at Baltimore.

From these stated facts, it is to be seen that the editorial in question contained a judgment altogether unjustified, and that the writer will surely rectify the error he made.

As to the second editorial by the same writer, concerning "Delegates to the Zionist Congress," which coincides in its contents with an article signed "Pedant," which appeared in the "Toronto Hebrew Journal" on July 15th, both writers seem to ignore the conditions in Canada, as well as the constitution which governs the Zionist Organization of Canada.

The Zionist Organization here, since its inception, has followed the rule never to contribute towards the expense of a delegate to the Congress, and during the twenty-five years of its existence has contributed a small sum toward the expense only of one delegate in 1911, and that concession was made only because that delegate was at the time employed as editor of one of the Jewish papers in Canada.

It is true that this principle is debatable and should be brought up at a Convention, which was not done so until now.

As far as the present issue is concerned, the Canadian Zionist Organization being entitled to six delegates, was only able to select one Canadian in the person of Mr. M. Gelber, the other five being proxies in the persons of Dr. Schmarya Levin, Dr. Martin Rosenbluth of Berlin; Dr. Alexander Goldstein, Mr. Joseph Cowen of London, and Mr. William Topkis of the American Organization—men of highest standing within the Zionist Organization of the world, and all holding the views as formulated in the proposals accepted by the Canadian organization. The very method of electing delegates in Canada is in conformity with the laws governing Congresses.

Thanking you in advance for publishing this somewhat lengthy letter, I am

Yours truly,
LEON GOLDMAN,
Executive Secretary.
ZIONIST ORGANIZATION OF CANADA, INC.

Ottawa.

THE EDITOR,
CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW:

I certainly was surprised to read the editorials in your issue of July 27th from the pen of Rabbi Brickner wherein he criticised the Zionist National Council as having ignored the rank and file in deciding what attitude our delegates should take on the question of the Jewish Agency, which is to come up at the Congress, termed us "undemocratic," referred to our appeals for funds as "milking the public," and finally accused us of having selected delegates who are not truly representative. To me, all these terms are merely catch-phrases common to the average soap box orator, and certainly not suited to men such as Rabbi Brickner. I am particularly saddened that one so prominent in our Canadian Jewish life should make public charges without first taking the trouble to ascertain whether he is right or wrong. Knowing the Rabbi as a good Zionist, I am at a loss to understand what purpose he hoped to serve by attempting to estrange the public from our cause.

Rabbi Brickner is personally acquainted with every member of our Council and if he felt he had a grievance or something worth while considering, he should know that we would have paid proper heed to same. As a matter of fact, he did not take the trouble to find out what the office of the National Council had done to get the opinion of all members of the Council on the question of the Jewish Agency. Our executive secretary informed every member that this matter was to be taken up at our last meeting, but to take it at the worst, even had he not done so, could we have been considered undemocratic? Does the Parliament of Canada advise its absentee members what is to be discussed at each session? Would important legislation be held up until those absentee members had been given an opportunity of writing what they thought about it?

After all, who is in a better position to make decisions on important Zionist matters than those who, day in and day out, week in and week out, make it their business to study Zionist problems. It is true that there are only a few who are transacting Zionist business in Canada, but if this can be called autocracy, then it is an autocracy forced on the few, for they cannot get others to help them.

Where is the justice and fair play in abusing those men who regularly attend the Zionist meetings, who are the first to contribute, and who give the most generously to set an example for others to emulate?

Rabbi Brickner complains that those chosen to represent Canada at the Congress are makeshift and not suitable, and he points out that we gave a mandate to only one Canadian, and mandates to five others of different nationalities. There is no question in my mind but that this is a debatable matter, but personally, I would never approve of sending our quota of six delegates at an expense to our organization of from $10,000 to $12,000. I recollect that at the time of the last Congress when we sent our executive secretary at the personal expense of the members of our executive, and not at the expense of our organization, some uninformed persons criticized us for being, as they thought, too liberal with Zionist funds and tried to create an excuse to evade doing their duty and contributing to our cause.

The Rabbi said in commencing one of his editorials that he wanted to "get something off his chest," and I would say that I would far rather read something he had written from his fertile and scholarly brain.

In conclusion, I want to state that I have the highest regard for Rabbi Brickner and only take issue with him now because I have the cause of Zionism so much at heart.

Believe me,

Yours very truly,

A. J. FREIMAN.

GOVERNOR SMITH URGES RELIGIOUS EDUCATION FOR JEWISH CHILDREN

Albany, N.Y. (J.T.A.)—Religious training of the children of all faiths and all creeds is urged by Governor Alfred Smith in a letter he has just sent to the Jewish Educational Association, New York.

The Governor says that the Association, which is engaged in a campaign to take ten thousand Jewish children off the streets and place them in religious schools this fall, is dealing with a fundamental problem as important to the community as the care of the sick and the poor.

The campaign is headed by Nathan Straus, Judge Otto Rosalsky, Judge Edward Luzansky, Israel Unterberg, Jacob Wener, Samuel Rottenberg and Bernard Semel.

Governor Smith's letter in part follows:

I have noted with deep interest in your communication to me that hundreds of thousands of children, both Christian and Jewish, are growing up in this State without any religious education. This fact must challenge the conscience of every right-minded man and woman in this State, irrespective of his race or creed. No state or country can long endure which neglects to inculcate the principles of morality and religion in the minds and hearts of its young people.

"I agree with you that the vast majority of the 90 per cent. of all offenders who come before our criminal courts could have been saved if they had come under the influence of a religious education in their childhood.

"The Jewish Educational Association, of which you are the president, is dealing with a most fundamental problem in the only way it can be solved, and that is, by religious education. I sincerely hope that my fellow-citizens of the Jewish faith will respond as generously to this campaign to put ten thousand Jewish children into religious schools as they are accustomed to answer the call for help to the poor, the sick and the delinquent."

MONTREAL

Rabbi Louis Levitsky, who has recently accepted a call to the pulpit at Wilkes Barre, Pa., will be remembered by many for his brilliant academic successes here and during his seven years' training for the rabbinate in New York City. A Russian by birth, he received his elementary training in the Montreal public and high schools. After a year at the Harvard Divinity School he obtained his degree of Bachelor of Arts at the College of the City of New York. Before entering the Theological Seminary, he attended the Montreal Hebrew School. Among the offices which he held were the secretaryship and the presidency of the Menorah Society, and he was on the executive of the Zionist Society and a member of the Hebrew-speaking club at C.C.N.Y. He was secretary, vice-president, and later president of the Morris Blumenthal Society at the Seminary; president of the Solomon Schechter Society, and in his last year was editor of the Students' "Bulletin." He was awarded the junior prize for industry and progress in 1917, in 1918 the junior prize for the essay on "The Life of Rashi," in 1909 for the essay on "The Social Legislation of Deuteronomy," the Alex. Cohut Essay prize in 1920, the Alumni Association essay prize in 1921 and also in the same year the Irving Lehman prize for public speaking. He held a scholarship in 1920 and was the honour student in 1921 and 1922. He was extremely active in communal affairs, taking an active interest in Young Judæa, Menorah, the Zionist Organization and the Freidlander Educational Conference, and teaching in the religious schools of the Jewish centre. He is well known among the members of the new Adath Jeshurun congregation in Montreal, where he officiated last year during the holidays. The best wishes of the Montreal Jewish community are extended to Rabbi Levitsky, who will most assuredly continue to develop along the same splendid lines.

Mr. Nat. W. Jacobs, president of the Baron de Hirsch Book Club, Mr. Robt. Blumenthal, who has taken a keen interest in the club's "Public Speaking and Debating" competitions, and the Board of Directors are exerting their best efforts to make the coming season a banner one. Several inner circles are now being organized. A membership campaign with an objective of 500 will be launched early in September. The Club library will be re-opened on the 15th inst. with an addition of one hundred new books. To increase the library still more, plans are being made for a book shower to which all members and friends will be invited. It is expected that the report of the educational committee will be submitted in a week's time. Miss Lena Rutenberg has been elected convenor of the entertainment committee.

The Montreal Big Brother Association has carefully planned the work of the organization so that the under-privileged boys of the city will be given every possible chance to redeem themselves. The financial status of the Association was found most satisfactory by the executive committee. The secretary of the club visited the Bnai Brith camp at Lac des Isles during the week. Among those holding office are Clarence Michaels, of the Temple Emmanuel Brotherhood, who is the 1st vice-president, Rabbi Max J. Merritt, of the Juvenile Court Committee, and Max Bernfeld of the Bnai Brith.

The Bnai Brith announce a donation of $300 for their camp from Sir Mortimer B. Davis. This camp has made a vacation in the country possible for many boys who would otherwise have been denied it. During this week boys were sent out from the Talmud Torahs, the Hebrew Orphans' Home and the Baron de Hirsch Institute.

The Zionist organization is giving special attention to its new plan of distributing 10,000 Jewish Colonial Trust shares. The Jewish Colonial Trust Company, Limited, was established in London on March the 20th, 1899. It has an authorized capital of two million pounds which is divided into one-pound shares, which pay 5 per cent. dividends. Special committees throughout Canada will familiarize the public with this scheme. The price per bearer's share is $5.35. Five shares will sell for $26.75 and twenty shares will sell for $107.

GIDEONS ISSUE COLLECTION OF YIDDISH FOLK-SONGS

Boston (J.T.A.)—"From the Cradle to the Chuppe" is the title given a collection of Yiddish folk-songs compiled by Constance and Henry Gideon and published in two volumes by the Arthur P. Schmidt Company, Boston and New York.

The collection which is said to be the first exhaustive and complete work of its kind in America, covers a range of four classes of songs, childhood, meditations, love songs, weddings and festivals. It is arranged for voice and piano. The Yiddish text is given in simple phonetic transcriptions accompanied by an English translation.

Henry A. Gideon has been choirmaster and organist of the Temple Israel of Boston for the last fifteen years.

JEWS UNREPRESENTED IN ESTHONIA ASSEMBLY

Reval, Esthonia (J.T.A.)—The new Esthonian parliament which has just convened, has not a single Jewish representative, despite the fact that the Jewish population is in excess of 5,000, and the ratio of representation is about 1 for 4,000.

The parliament numbering 100 deputies has the following alignment:

Rights, 25 deputies, Center, 58; Social Democrats, 20; Communists, 10. The Russians and Germans have together 7, forming a separate minority bloc.

STONE FROM WAILING WALL IN FREE SYNAGOG HOUSE

New York (J.T.A.)—A stone from the Wailing Wall will be built in one of the walls of the new Synagog House of the Federated Central and Free Synagogues which is being erected on West 68th Street, near Central Park West, it is stated.

The stone which has just arrived in New York is a gift to Dr. S. Wise, from Sir Wyndham Deedes, former civil secretary of the Palestine Government. It was presented to Dr. Wise on his trip last year to Palestine.

The stone is a part of the famous Wailing Wall hallowed and furrowed by the tears of Jews praying at the historic shrine.

The building which will contain the Temple stone will also house the Jewish Institute of Religion.

FIRES SWEPT NINETY JEWISH FAMILIES HOMELESS

Warsaw (J.T.A.)—Seventy Jewish families are reported homeless at Kovenska, a small East Galician town, as a result of a fire which swept the town. The synagogue although not destroyed suffered serious damage.

Almost the entire Jewish quarter, near Lodz, is reported to have destroyed. Ninety Jewish houses are said to have been damaged.

Editorial

A Wolf in Sheepskin—the Toronto Evening Telegram

The Toronto Evening Telegram is the only large daily on the American continent whose power is built up by catering to one of the lowest of all human failings, prejudice. In this respect it is the paper unique. It has been said that on the walls of the editor's office there hangs a map of Toronto, marked off to designate the particular religious, racial and political prejudices that are supposed to be characteristic of the population of each section. The policy of the editor is to periodically play these prejudices, one against another. This is especially evident during political campaigns, when the Telegram does not hesitate to use the most despicable tactics. The Telegram is always careful, however, to side with the prejudice of those who are in the numerical majority. This, of course, is done for one purpose only—increased circulation and profits.

The Telegram is the sworn foe of liberals and liberalism. It claims to be Canadian and pro-British. Yet its interpretation of these is the narrowest kind of provincialism and chauvinism. Its columns are so full of "small town stuff" that one looks for events of world-wide significance in it like for a needle in a hay stack.

The editorial writers of the Telegram always seem to write their views wholly undisturbed by the facts. Unlike most other papers its editorial opinion is not confined to the editorial colums. Its news columns too are tainted and defiled by editorial opinion—a practice frowned upon as unethical in journalism. It is a matter of no mean ability to be able to pick out the seeds of news from the chaff of editorial bias in the so-called news columns of this paper. We suppose that the justification for this practice is the old Jesuitical principle that the end justifies the means. Pursuing such a policy even an editor must not be too particular about getting his facts right. Thus a recent editorial dealing with the suppression of a universally accepted work on sex by the world-noted authority Havelock Ellis, refers to this writer as "a well-known American psychologist," the appellation American alone being used as sufficient proof that the works of Havelock Ellis deserve to be suppressed and consigned to the flames. As a matter of fact, Havelock Ellis is an Englishman, living in England, a fact every school boy knows. In fact, the Telegram referred to the writer "as formerly of St. Louis Mo." What matters it that the writer never resided there?

Let us take another and better instance:

In an editorial on the No-More-War Demonstration held in Toronto recently, slurring reference was made to the Rev. Father Minehan, a Roman Catholic priest, and the writer, a rabbi, who addressed the gathering, whilst no mention or allusion was made to the Rev. Dr. Pidgeon, Rev. Henderson and Rev. Russell, all Protestant ministers, who also spoke and with whom we are proud to be associated. The omission of the names of these Protestant Ministers was not accidental. It was deliberate, pre-meditated and with malice aforethought. The Telegram represents itself as the Champion of the Protestant group who are the numerical majority in Toronto and Ontario. The Catholics and Jews are in the minority. Hence the Telegram, pursuing its policy of stirring up religious pre-prejudice where the opportunity offers itself, deliberately forgets to mention the active participation of Protestant ministers in this demonstration, but singles out for attack the Jewish and Roman Catholic speakers. The Telegram knows that so long as it is careful to keep mum about the Protestants, nobody will give a d—— what it says against the J.Ps. and R.C's.

This is but another instance of the Telegram's conception of British "fair play and the square deal."

Though the Telegram has always been known to be anti-Jew, anti-Catholic and anti-foreigner, though in season and out of season its columns have never failed to lambast these, as if Toronto and Canada were the exclusive God-given gift to the Telegram and its clan and everybody else was an intruder and a poacher, yet it suddenly, last week pulled the lamb's wool over its wolf's skin and began to pose as a friend and advisor to the Jews. In two editorials on successive days it offered left-handed compliments, coupled with gratuitous advice. The first editorial was entitled "Hebrew War Veterans Should Live in Organizations of Their Own." The second editorial was called "Pro-European Leaders Worst Foes of Their Own Race and Faith."

With both pieces of editorial advice we heartily disagree. In the first instance we believe that in all things patriotic and civic there should be no distinction of race, color or creed.

In the second instance we do not agree "that the Toronto Hebrews have allowed the local leadership of their people to be largely monopolized by a gang of 'Europe first and Canada last and British anti-conscription politicians'." Who are the "Europe first and Canada last and British anti-conscriptionist politicians"? Why does not the Telegram mention them by name?

The Jews of Toronto and Canada are not organized along any lines excepting religious and cultural. Politics play absolutely no role in Jewish commercial life. Surely the Telegram is not so naive as to believe that every peanut politician is a Jewish leader? What does the Telegram mean by "Europeanizing the Hebrew people of Toronto?" The figures of those who received their naturalization papers in Toronto during 1822 shows that the Hebrews formed the largest percentage of Toronto foreign-born to become citizens. Is this a sign that the Toronto Hebrews are being Europeanized?

During the war the Jews of Canada and Toronto were patriotically pro-British. Their quota of dead and wounded fighting men was greater than their percentage of population. They gave freely to all war funds and in the recent Northern fire disaster, the Holy Blossom congregation, unsolicited, sent to the Red Cross a check for $1,000.00. The University Avenue congregation likewise gave $600.00—a total of $1,600.00 from two synagogues. Can any two churches in Toronto, of similar size, show a better record?

The leadership of Toronto Jewry, and for that matter, of Canadian Jewry, everywhere is in the hands of people who are loyal to the interests of this country and Great Britain. What we ask for from the Telegram is a greater share of that "British and Canadian birthright," to which they say we are entitled and of which they prate about. As we understand that birthright, it is one of fair play and square deal to all, irrespective of race or creed.

Not until the Telegram practices fair play and gives a square deal to all, and ceases to be a paper whose existence depends on promoting prejudice, will we agree that it is either Canadian or British.

We have always said that what Zionism needed most was to be made the mode, the beloved ardour of the whipping cream stratum of Jewish society, otherwise plain cream, to say nothing of top milk or lower, would not be able to put across the Zionist experiment on a large scale. Therefore it was with the facial expression of a Cheshire cat that we received news from the Zionist Congress at Carlsbad saying that the United States delegation suggested the enrollment of such men as Julius Rosenwald of Chicago for influence necessary to the practical work in Palestine.

Now Julius Rosenwald is so much cream of cream in Chicago that the Jewish Sentinel remembers it in every society column it publishes to a waiting world. He is no Zionist and indeed what American Jewish society man is, come to think of it? That Rosenwald is a wealthy man is, of course, synonymous with saying that he is cream, and although the important thing to the Congress is that Rosenwald, Mortimer Schiff and others are financiers, to us it seems important that they and their women folks really belong. Otherwise these men could be asked for money only but could not be depended upon for attracting gifts toward the $4,000,000 contemplated fund from that eager-eyed multitude of people, always a-thirst for some godless reason, for public work in vineyards within the eyesight of social dictators.

This fact was brought out in the world war if ever and was greatly responsible in every community for the success of every kind of war work from Red Cross to tag days and back again.

People otherwise inimical or impersonally hostile or totally indifferent to a cause, when asked by the élite to work in its favor became oblivious to the most patent discomforts and had their personal distastes and hatreds changed for them over night. Regarding themselves as socially eligible, although of belated arrival on the heights, they saw in the invitation to work near the elect not only an opening wedge to heart's desire but a pleasantly direct route. The same thing holds good now as then, strata being strata and people being people now as then.

So the powers that be in Zionism, having seen the light on a topic which a village dame might have illumined for them, the whole Zionist situation must look a more hopeful color in the eyes of Zionist workers. The whole thing strikes us as a bold, clever move on the part of Dr. Weizmann, a man big enough to admit publicly that the very people whose necks are twisted with the strain of facing the east daily, are often the least anxious to dig down for coin, and a man subtle enough to know that few of the big, rich men in the States and in Canada, though not Zionists, can withstand the flattery that goes with being asked (fancy that!) to give millions to a cause to which they have repeatedly made known their disinterestedness.

"As the late Mr. Laffan of the New York Sun sometimes had to remind his arty young reporters when they would bring in their impressionistic accounts of the great banquets in town, there is nothing quite so descriptive as a list of names. Indeed he once posted a peremptory order that every reporter covering a dinner would have to clog his lyricism to the extent of naming twenty from among those present. There was a broad grin in the Sun office next morning when a story, identifiable as the work of the wild Mr. O'Malley, wound up thus:

"... and Lottie Wiley, which makes exactly twenty.

"Well, then, among the owners of the new Guild Theatre, you will find Edna Ferber, Sir Edgar Speyer, Mrs. Fiske, Oswald Garrison Villard, Margalo Gillmore, Emily Warmer, Ernest Peixotto, Genevieve Tobin, Adolph S. Ochs, Louise Closser Hale, Jascha Heifetz, Kenneth Macgowan, Joseph Urban, Alex E. Springarn, Roy S. Durstine, Adolph Lewisohn, Mrs. James Harvey Robinson, Samuel Shipman, Arthur Gutterman and Sir Joseph Duveen.

"The $500 subscriptions range all the way from $200 to $10,000 bonds. The $1,000 bondholder has, I believe, some extra privileges. His name is enshrined in the lobby as a Founder, which, of course, pleases his ego immensely. Then he can go to all the first nights, and his nieces can attend all the final dress rehearsals. Also, Helen Westley will bow to him on the street. (One of these Founders, by the way, is a recent addition to the solid citizenry of Manhattan as Jascha Heifetz, for the money which his bowing and magical bow charms out of the wondering pockets of the world is usually spent in such luxuries as submarining, the shooting trade, or buying first editions of Dickens.)"—Alexander Woollcott in "Vanity Fair." f.f.c.

A very delightful bar-mitzvah was held in Canora, Sask., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Cohen, in honour of their eldest son, Lawrence Ernest, on Saturday, July 28th. The service took place at the Congregational House of Isaiah, in the presence of Rabbi Kahanovitch, of Winnipeg, and Rabbi Fainstein, of New York. Services were conducted by Rabbi Venstein, of Canora, followed by a beautifully delivered maftir and a suitable address by the bar-mitzvah.

After the service a kiddish was held for the adults at the parental home, following which the children were entertained at a lawn fête and refreshments served.

On Sunday, July 29, Mr. and Mrs. S. Cohen entertained at dinner in honour of their son, covers being laid for one hundred guests. The tables were beautifully decorated with cut flowers and were illuminated by shaded candles, and centred with a birthday cake. Toasts were drunk to the bar-mitzvah, his parents, and to the two grandmothers, Mrs. R. Diner and Mrs. L. Cohen, both of Winnipeg. Appropriate speeches were made by Rabbi Kahanovitch and other guests. Later in the evening a dance was held for the younger folks, at which Miss Eleanor Cohen gave a very clever exhibition of ballet dancing.

The out-of-town guests included: Mrs. R. Diner, Mrs. L. Cohen, Mrs. D. V. Rosen, Miss Hazel Diner, Mrs. J. J. as merchandise is a misnomer. Can a printed label be compared with an axe, for instance? The label carries a parcel across the continent—or around the world, telling each handler from whence to where. The axe is useful too, but only to the immediate user. Printing is direction, information and intelligence. Its appeal is to the educated mind. And do not forget that every educated mind is derived from what printing has taught it.

gave his presidential report as he was leaving town shortly. Since the organization of the club on May 6 for the purpose of Zionist work, it has met with great success and during the short time which has elapsed since its organization it has proven a great factor in Winnipeg Zionism. All Keren Hayesod districts are covered by Haboinim members; Haboinim took the most active part in the recent Herzl Wald campaign, and succeeded in selling many trees; it takes part in all National Fund work; it is selling Jewish Colonial Trust shares among its members; and in many other ways has shown its active Zionist spirit. The club is also doing literary work and takes up the study of Jewish history and Jewish traditions. It has a Chaluzim group composed of those who are going to Palestine, the work of which is the study of agricultural conditions in Palestine, and Hebrew. The report of the retiring president was accepted with enthusiasm and a vote of thanks accorded him for his splendid work in assisting to put the aims of the club on a working basis. Much regret was expressed at his departure as he has been an active figure in Winnipeg Zionism for the last six years.

Elections followed, and resulted: Mr. D. Cohen, president; Miss C. Pall, vice-president; Mr. A. Feldman, treasurer; Mrs. N. Lockshin, Jewish recording secretary; Miss Stoller, English recording secretary; and Miss A. Newhouse, corresponding secretary.

Regret was also expressed at the departure of two other members, Mr. H. Courtney, past treasurer, and Mr. Joe Cooper.

Haboinim will hold a farewell party in honour of Mr. Shanas, Mr. Courtney and Mr. Cooper, on Sunday, August 5, at 496 Redwood Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Feinstein (nee Jean Coval, Winnipeg), of Mitchell, South Dakota, Mr. S. H. Coval and daughter, Lillian, of Winnipeg, motored out to Sioux Falls Thursday, July 29, for the day. Mr. S. H. Coval, Winnipeg, left Mitchell August 1 for his home after spending three weeks with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Feinstein. The many friends of Babe Coval will be glad to know he is getting better after the accident, which occurred while playing lacrosse. Miss Lillian Coval will motor to the Black Hills with Dr. and Mrs. Harrington, then will return to her home in Winnipeg after spending four months with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Feinstein. Miss Coval, Winnipeg, was the guest for a few days of Mrs. M. L. Ackerman at her summer home, Del Rapids, South Dakota.

MARRIAGES

Finkelstein—Ripstein

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ripstein, McMillan Avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Rose, to Mr. M. J. Finkelstein, at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Sunday, July 29. Owing to the fact that Mr. Finkelstein had recently lost his mother, the wedding was a quiet one and was attended only by the immediate families of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Finkelstein left for New York from which point they sail on the Franconia for Europe.

Stitt—Wolfson

The marriage of Miss Tressa Wolfson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Wolfson, 108 Royal Street, to Mr. Samuel Stitt, of Fort William, Ont., was solemnized on Sunday, July 29, at one o'clock at the Royal Alexandra Hotel. Reverend H. J. Samuel officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a Grecian gown of white georgette, draped and caught at one side by a silver ornament, having a court train of silver tissue falling gracefully from the shoulders. Her veil of silk net was arranged in coronet fashion and held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and ophelia roses. Mrs. Lansing, sister of the groom, acted as matron of honour and wore a gown of russet crepe romaine and a smart duvetyn hat of the same shade. She carried a sheaf of American Beauty roses. The groom was attended by Mr. David Copp. Following the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served and after the usual toasts and good wishes of the guests had been extended, the bride slipped away to don her travelling attire, an imported three-piece costume of cinnamon brown Roshanara crepe, embroidered in raffia, and she wore a Virot toque of the same tones, her costume being completed with a French beaded bag, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Stitt left on an extended trip to Montreal and New York, going via the Great Lakes. On their return they will reside in Fort William.

Kahana-Gershfield

The wedding took place Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gershfield, 116 Charles Street, of their eldest daughter, Eva, to J. E. Kahana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Kahana, Rabbi Kahanovitch officiating. The wedding march was played by Miss Dorothy Young. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father wore a becoming gown of white satin designed with seed pearls, and her tulle veil was prettily arranged with orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of ophelia roses and white sweet peas. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Kahana left later for a motor trip to the south, and on their return will reside in Winnipeg. The bride's travelling suit was a light brown canton crepe, and she wore a small model hat to match.

Mrs. J. Gershfield, mother of the bride, was gowned in black crepe romaine, and Mrs. M. Kahana, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of black canton crepe with a black hat and orange bouquet of sweet peas.

OLD FOLKS' HOME CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

The Jewish Old Folks' Home will make an appeal for funds beginning Monday, August 13, and ending August 27, when representatives of the institution will call upon Jews of Toronto and vicinity for contributions. The campaign, which is for a worthy cause, is to provide enough funds to take care of incurable aged Jews as well as those made infirm through old age. At present, through lack of accommodation, the old folks are forced to mingle with those who are ill, a condition which the Home campaign committee seeks to remedy through a campaign made successful through general contribution.

U. S. SENATORS ENQUIRE INTO JEWISH POSITION IN POLAND

Warsaw (J.T.A.).—Senator King, of Utah, and Senator Ladd, of North Dakota, here on their way to Russia, yesterday visited the headquarters of the National Council of Polish Jews and conferred over an hour with Deputy Gruenbaum, ranking Jewish member of the Polish Assembly, and M. Erostig, member for Lemberg. The Senators were accompanied by Representative Frear. They evinced considerable interest in the economic position of the Polish Jews, in the problem of emigration as it affects the Jewish population and the relation of the Jewish to the other non-Polish minorities. The question of the Jewish school system in Poland was also discussed.

The Jewish Council attaches great importance to the conference with the United States Senators who were thus given an opportunity to obtain first-hand information about the position of the Jews. The council has promised to issue an official communiqué on the subject.

STANDARD THEATRE TO OPEN AUGUST 31

The inauguration of the new season at the Standard Theatre will be Friday evening, August 31, when a program of rich entertainment will be carried out.

The leading players will be Mischa and Lucy German, who come to Toronto direct from a five years' successful engagement at the New York Art Theatre. The entire cast cannot as yet be announced. The old favorites of last year, Mr. and Mrs. Skolnick, are amongst those engaged, as well as the well known Mischa Goldberg, Max Rosen, Mme. Zalisa, the latter coming to Toronto direct from the Moscow Art Theatre.

Mr. German, who is at present in the city arranging for the grand opening, assures the theatre-goers of Toronto that he will produce plays which will appeal to the most critical.

The theatre is under new management, consisting of Mr. Jack Axler, lessee and general manager, Mr. Mark Hands and Mr. Louis Litman, business manager, who are well known to the patrons of the Standard Theatre.

The management will be pleased to receive suggestions from the general public for improvement or changes desired or plays produced.

Do You Live Well?

Assuredly not unless the choice foods you buy for the table are kept at their best in a well-iced refrigerator. Above 50° milk is unsafe; meat loses its appetizing flavor; eggs and butter deteriorate. Why run such risks when ice costs so little? A few cents a day keeps the refrigerator full and your food in prime condition.

ANOTHER POSEN TOWN DECLARED "JEW-FREE"

Warsaw (J.T.A.)—Another town has been added to those which are entirely free of Jews and again the anti-Semites are rejoicing. The latest town which is declared now to be completely blessed is Mrocza, in Posen.

As a result of anti-Semitic activity all Jews have left the town. The synagog has been turned into a beer warehouse and the ritual candelabra have been turned over to the church.

New York (J.T.A.).—Charging that Ford's "Dearborn Independent" in its issue of August 20, 1922, made "scurrilous and libellous" charges against him, Herman Bernstein, editor of the "Jewish Tribune," has announced that he will start suit against the automobile magnate of Detroit. Samuel Untermyer will act as counsel for Mr. Bernstein.

Mr. Bernstein charges he was represented in Ford's paper "as a sort of spy in the service" of a "mythical" combination of international Jewish bankers.

The article in question, Mr. Bernstein asserts in the letter he has addressed to Henry Ford on July 4, consisted of "grotesque assaults" upon Jewish bankers "based upon a tissue of fabrications that indicate an extent of ignorance and imbecility and of race bigotry and hatred that are beyond human understanding."

Mr. Bernstein declares that in an interview with the Universal News Service in June, 1922, Ford charged that the statements against the Jewish bankers had been communicated to him by the editor.

In his letter, Mr. Bernstein declares that he will give Ford ten days to inform him whether or not he will accept service for the suit in New York State. After the expiration of this period, if Ford will not accept service in New York, suit against him will be started in Detroit.

"I am determined to seek redress for the injury you have done me," Mr. Bernstein writes, "and incidentally to expose the wanton falsehoods you have been spreading over the country concerning the Jews of the land, based largely upon documents that I have heretofore exposed as forgeries, and the prejudices you have been trying to create based on these figments of a diseased imagination. It is high time for the American people to get a true picture of the manner of man you are, and I feel that in prosecuting this suit, I am performing an important public service."

MARRIAGES

APPEL—GORDON

A pretty wedding was solemnized when Annie Pearl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Gordon, was united in marriage to Dr. Simon Appel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Appel, Rabbi Gordon officiating. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white georgette, trimmed with crystals. Her coronet was of orange blossoms and tulle veil arranged in Juliette fashion. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and baby breath and wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. Mrs. Charles I. Benjamin was matron of honor, wearing frilled net frock and corsage bouquet of roses and baby-breath. Miss Fanny Schwartz was bridesmaid, wearing beaded rose georgette and corsage bouquet of roses and baby-breath. Mr. Joseph M. Gordon, brother of the bride, was best man, and Mr. Charles I. Benjamin acted as groomsman. The Roth brothers and Mr. Kotzer entertained with charming selections, after which dinner was served to about one hundred guests outdoors under a marquee. Toasts were followed by the reading of congratulatory telegrams, and dancing took place later. Dr. and Mrs. S. Appel left for Detroit and Cleveland to spend their honeymoon, the bride wearing a travelling suit of navy and velvet hat of sand and old rose. Upon their return they will take up residence at their home, 403 Dundas West.

SHALL AUTOCRACY REAP WHAT DEMOCRACY HAS SOWN?

accept their conditions with clenched teeth, had now become the men to decide, the men who were trusted by the people, the leaders. And what was stranger still, more inexplicable than ever, was that they demanded the right to decide in regard to the work for which they did not provide the funds. It was weird to watch the internal conflicts and wranglings about the different questions relating to the relief activity. It seemed often as if there was a rising of "schnorrers" such as Zangwill has pictured. But the gentlemen of the JCA, who showed themselves in eastern Europe only when the life there had become more calm and normal, felt too much contempt for these rebel schnorrers," the suddenly risen administrators from America who had to work with an eye to the report, as they said more than once, and were dependent on the masses who provided the funds, that they should not cherish a hope that before long they would have to surrender and come to those who had their money ready and had no need to ask for sanction of anyone, or to take anyone else's opinions into account. They did not wish to adapt themselves under any circumstances to the new conditions, to recognize the new methods and the new people. They refused to give up their old idea that in return for their money they were entitled, they and the persons they appointed, to carry on the work, to control the social activity. All attempts, therefore, to come to an understanding with them proved useless. No one would or could accept their conditions and re-place the yoke on their necks. But they were content to hide their time patiently.

Now it seems that the day for which they have waited has come. The masses, it seems, have grown tired of giving, the organizations, beginning with the "Joint," are passing through a crisis, and are forced to consider seriously the question whether there is any further possibility of their existence. Founded as organizations for the relief of war victims, they are not quite certain whether they can and whether they ought to transform themselves into permanent organizations, whether they will be able to obtain a permanent income. Even the "Joint," it seems, regards its work as finished. It feels that it must abdicate and give up the heritage to the permanent organizations, that is, primarily to the JCA. The smaller local organizations, as in England, for example, are joining together with the organizations of the notables. More than one of their leaders is flattered by the idea of working together with the notables. Besides they do not know how they will be able to carry on their work any longer and where with the catastrophic appearances in Jewish life growing constantly less, they will be able to find funds. For them, evil tongues say, the societies have already achieved their purpose. They have raised them to a certain height, opened the doors for the organizations of the notables and made things, so to speak, spick and span. They do not realize that their value to the organizations of the notables is not dependent on themselves as individuals at all, but only on their position in their organizations. With the disappearance of their organizations, they will lose all attraction for the circles of the notables and will no longer be necessary for them.

Here is a grave peril for the Jewish national circles. The JCA is becoming the centre for all the organizations of notables. If it is to obtain also the heritage of the "Joint," which will liquidate its activities, they will be the sole rulers in the field of Jewish relief work. Unless all national and democratic organizations comprising the elements working in the field of social relief, combine into one powerful people's relief organization and put themselves in opposition, refusing to allow the funds which are being raised by the masses to fall into the treasuries of the JCA.

Unfortunately the "Joint" in its great and wide-spread frequently successful work, has forgotten the most important and object which it was given to carry out, namely, as a temporary organization to put on their feet, so to speak, the local Jewish communities, to establish institutions to enable them to carry on their fight for existence and development. True, the idea was not foreign to the leaders of the "Joint," particularly of late. But they did not carry the idea into effect. Going back to America, they are leaving behind mostly unfinished structures, but what is worse, awakened desires, intensified needs which have till now been satisfied by the "Joint," and are now in danger of again remaining unsatisfied. Thanks to the dollars of the "Joint," the relief activity, the Yiddish and Hebrew School systems have grown to an uncommon extent. The great funds, enormous when translated into marks and other valuta of the east European countries, pushed forward the social energy and initiative tremendously and now all these structures will collapse because the local settlements are not strong enough to uphold them. They are not yet ready, and the new structures which have not been able yet to root themselves into the life around them, will in most cases be broken down, will become ruins or at least will have to be cut down, considerably crippled in order that their upkeep should be within the power of the local Jewish communities. Instead of giving time to the local Jewish settlements to collect their forces to find the necessary funds, instead of providing the necessary funds that they should be able to maintain themselves, the "Joint" is to give over the heritage to the JCA and leave in Poland and everywhere else ruins which will only recall the American big deeds left unaccomplished.

And what will the JCA do with the heritage? How will it utilize the favourable situation created for it, the victory which has fallen into its hands from heaven? As is usual with the JCA, it will give appointments to the last Mohicans of assimilation, the people in whom the masses have no confidence, it will restore their power which has long since been broken, it will take no account of the new national forces and institutions, it will treat them, so to speak, en canaille, listen to their conditions which are degrading, which force the to feel that those who pay the piper call the tune. It will cross national Jewry in every sphere of Jewish life. In a word, Jewish life in the east European countries will be pushed back to the stage which it occupied before the war. The reaction on this reaction, and the JCA, its vanguard, will again dominate Jewish life.

It is understood that there will be a desperate resistance in the east European countries, especially in Poland. The awakened new national forces will not surrender so easily, but will their right find sufficient understanding and sympathy in America, in western Europe? It is understood what great peril is facing us. Will we create the great force which will be able to place itself against the JCA and force it to adapt itself to the will of national Jewry, or to disappear in the days of the war?

Million Pounds Received By London Headquarters of Keren Hayesod

Completion of Total for Opening of Carlsbad Congress Made Possible by Special Remittance from America

STATEMENT BY HERMANN CONHEIM, NATIONAL TREASURER

The Zionist Congress, which opened at Carlsbad last Monday will have laid before it a report by the headquarters of the Keren Hayesod in London, showing total receipts of one million pounds, according to a statement issued by Hermann Conheim, National Treasurer of the American Keren Hayesod, at the American headquarters, 114 Fifth Ave., New York. The attainment of one million pounds, Mr. Conheim states, was made possible by the response to the recent appeal issued by the National Administration of the American Keren Hayesod and by a special remittance of $50,000 made by the American organization to the headquarters in London. This remittance was made in addition to the regular monthly remittance of the Keren Hayesod and in response to a special request from the London headquarters, asking for an additional $50,000 in order to fulfil the one million pound total.

"The collection of one million pounds for the Keren Hayesod," Mr. Conheim continues, "in which fifty countries are represented, is an achievement which should inspire a legitimate satisfaction in all our workers who since the establishment of the Keren Hayesod have labored with so much devotion to make this possible. It should be borne in mind that this was accomplished in the face of many serious obstacles, most of which have now been overcome. The Keren Hayesod has established itself in every country where Jews dwell and in most of them it has perfected an administrative machinery which, with the removal of the other obstacles, will no doubt produce greater results in the future.

"In the United States, which has of course been the major factor in this result, contributing over 63 per cent. of the total, there is every indication that the year 1923-1924 will be even more fruitful than the two previous years. The administrative machinery and organization are being constantly improved and the present and interim administrative committee which is functioning during the summer months, is devoting itself to strengthening the various regions and solving the difficult problem of personnel. Satisfactory progress is being made in both these directions. When the 1923 campaign period opens, this of course, will undoubtedly reflect itself in larger collections for the Keren Hayesod in every part of the country.

"With regard to the work in Palestine, of which we must never lose sight, it is only sufficient to refer to the recent address of the High Commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, which he delivered at a function given in his honor in London. It was mostly Jewish activity, said Sir Herbert, which is responsible for the development of Palestine, and it is largely through the fund provided by the Zionist Organization that many of the activities are being carried on." The "Fund" here referred to, of course, is none other than the Keren Hayesod."

Five of Nine "Honor" Assemblymen Are Jewish

New York (J.T.A.).—Senator Nathan Straus, Jr., has the best voting record of any senator from New York city in the State Senate, and five of nine assemblymen from New York city whose records are meritorious are Jews.

These facts are gathered from the report of the legislative committee of the Citizens' Union—a non-sectarian, non-partisan organization which studies the records of all the members of the New York Legislature.

In the Assembly the highest praise went to Assemblyman Joseph Steinberg, Republican member from the 15th Manhattan District. Two other Republicans, Assemblyman Sol Ullman and Assemblyman Victor Kaufman, and two Democrats, Assemblyman Maurice Bloch and Samuel Rosenman, were also placed on the honor list.

In speaking of the record of Senator Straus, the report says:

"Senator Straus, of all the senators from the city, made the best record of votes and introduced legislation of the highest character. Of sixty-six roll calls analyzed by the Citizens' Union on bills of importance, he was credited with fifty-seven votes in the public interest and nine against it. Allowing for the fact that he was doubtlessly recorded for some bad bills on short roll calls, which he would have voted against had he been present, this is an unusual record."

Senator Benjamin Antin of the Bronx was also accorded honorable mention for his voting record.

"HABIMAH" ACTRESS ARRIVES IN AMERICA

Weinberg and Zolotkoff Return from Abroad

New York (J.T.A.).—Miriam Elias, the young Jewish actress, who assisted Zemach in his Moscow "Habimah" Theatre, arrived in America Wednesday. Another notable arrival was Colonel J. B. Barron, O.B.E., former director of the Palestine Department of Health.

Morris Weinberg, publisher of "The Day" of New York, who was abroad on an official mission to study immigration, returned after having visited a number of countries. Leon Zolotkoff, prominent Jewish editor, returned from Palestine, where he spent over six months looking into the printing industry.

Colonel Barron, who is chairman of the Committee on Liquidation for the Orthodox Patriarchate in Jerusalem, is here to confer with the American Committee for the Preservation of Holy Places in the Holy Land. Bishop Manning is chairman of the committee.

A study of the immigration at first-hand sources convinced him that the muchly assailed immigrants of Eastern Europe are as good as the best immigrants of other countries, Mr. Weinberg declared.

The daughters of Israel held a card party last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. Lax, Delaware Avenue. Twelve tables were engaged in bridge and whist. A substantial sum was realized for the society.

Executive of United Hebrew Association Reorganized

As a result of a meeting of members of the United Hebrew Association and representatives of other organizations of the Jewish community held last Wednesday evening, a reorganization of the executive board took place, when the following were elected: Jacob Goldblatt, president; P. Phillips, vice-president; A. Halpern, treasurer; S. Davidovitz, secretary; Miss Lillian Goldstein, executive secretary; H. Steinberg and S. Hershman, charity committee; R. Finkelman, H. B. Sure, Free Loan, Chas. Shapiro and M. Grinblatt, house commitee; P. Phillips and S. Davidovitz, auditing committee. The newly elected board is planning many improvements for the upkeep of the building, and in the administering of the various charities. They expect to have the co-operation of all the other societies engaged in the same work, and with their assistance will be in a position to present a plan of activities for the coming season that will be of the greatest benefit to the community.

Talmud Torah

The Talmud Torah held a very enjoyable picnic on Monday to Wabasso Park for the pupils attending the school. About one hundred children had a delightful time. Trucks were kindly loaned by Messrs. M. Epstein, B. Levine, S. Silverstein and J. Goldblatt. The ladies who had charge of the lunch and prepared everything were Mesdames J. Levinson and B. Levin, the children doing justice to the bountiful spread prepared by them. Mr. M. Pliskow very kindly took charge of the sports and games. M. Steinberg, who had entire charge of the arrangements, deserves great credit for the success of the affair. Thanks are also due to Messrs. R. Finkelman, S. Nirenberg, M. Loomer and H. Rosenblatt, who assisted in the work.

Jerusalem University Publication to Unite Scholars of Many Lands

Jerusalem (J.T.A.)—A series of learned publications, entitled "Scripta Universitatis, Atque Bibliothecae Hierosolymitanarum" is being issued under the auspices of the Jerusalem University and Library, according to reports from the editors of "Scripta." These publications provide a common meeting ground for Jewish scholars in all countries, and give the Jerusalem University the opportunity of entering into an exchange of publications with universities and other institutions of learning throughout the world.

The "Scripta" are published periodically and each issue consists of four volumes, one on exact sciences (mathemathics, physics and technology), which Professor Albert Einstein is editing; one on biology and chemistry, edited by Professor A. von Wasserman of Berlin; "Litterae Humaniores," of which Professor E. Cassirer, of Hamburg is editor; and one on the Orient and Judaism, which is being edited by Dr. V. Aptowitzer, of Vienna, Professor A. Buchler, of London, and Oberrabbiner Dr. I. Low, of Szeged, Hungary.

The first volumes of the first and fourth groups will appear shortly. The one on mathematics and physics contains contributions by professors E. Landau of Gottingen, H. Bohr of Copenhagen, G. Loria of Geneva, J. Hadamard of Paris, A. Loewy of Freiburg, A. Fraenkel of Marburg, Albert Einstein of Berlin, J. Grotier of Berlin, L. S. Ornstein, Utrecht, T. Levi-Civita of Rome, T. V. Karman of Aachen, S. Brodetsky of Leeds, and Professor J. Popper-Lynkeus of Vienna.

The volume on the Orient and Judaism has contributions from Rabbi S. Klein, Nowe-Zamki, professors E. Taubler of Zurich, E. Mahlerof Budapest, J. Scheftelowitz of Koln, V. Aptovitzer of Vienna, J. Horovitz of Frankfort, I. Davidson of New York, Rab. Mag. S. H. Margulies of Firenze, A. Schwartz of Vienna, S. Kraus of Vienna, J. Klausner of Jerusalem, E. Mittwoch, Berlin, Oberrabbiner Dr. I. Low of Szeged, and E. Rubinowitz of Jerusalem.

The books will be printed in the original language of the contributor, and in Hebrew translation. The work of translation has been entrusted to a group of experts qualified alike by their scientific equipment, and by their knowledge of the Hebrew language. Through their work, the "Scripta" should contribute to the creation and development of a pure scientific vocabulary and terminology in Hebrew.

Prague, (J.T.A.).—Emmanuel Lasker was crowned victor in the European chess tournament which has just closed at Mahrisch-Ostrau.

It is predicted that Lasker will now issue a challenge to Capablanca, who won the world championship from Lasker at the Havanna meet.

Stockholm (J.T.A.).—Baptists as well as Jews are being persecuted in Roumania, according to reports made at the world Baptist convention in session here.

Greek orthodox natives persecute Baptists and Jews in the class of unbelievers, raid their meetings, maltreat women and attack men, it was charged.

Congressman William D. Upshaw of Georgia announced, following to-day's disclosures, that he would initiate a movement to have the Roumanian Government call a halt to these practices.

Budapest (J.T.A.)—Writing on the subject of the numerus clausus, "Vilag," a local newspaper, says the number of university students who have emigrated because of the numerus clausus, may without exaggeration be estimated at 5,000, possibly 6,000.

The cost of maintenance of these young students abroad must amount on the average to about 130,000 Hungarian kronen per month. In one year, that amounts to 1,300,000 Hungarian kronen per student. For 5,000 students it amounts to 6½ milliard kronen. This huge sum, if not more, is lost to Hungary every year because of the numerus clausus.

During the three years in which the numerus clausus has been in operation, Hungary lost in this way about 20 milliard kronen, the paper asserts.
